ATLANTIC SEARCH

Scorpion Signal 'May Be Hoax'

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The massive search for the atomic submarine Scorpion and her 99-man crew centred off the Virginia Capes today after receipt of a radio signal from a sender identifying itself as the missing craft.

A patrol plane and six ships reported picking up Wednesday night a "very clear" signal. But a naval spokesman said early today "it could be a hoax."

Cmdr. T. L. Ingraham, public affairs officer of the Atlantic Fleet's submarine force, also told a news conference, however: "The navy still maintains hope."

The submarine, missing since Monday, is the object of the greatest air-sea search ever mounted by the navy—10,000 men, 55 ships and 30 planes.

The radio message was picked up when the patrol plane receiving it was 110 miles east of Norfolk. Search units were concentrated in an area stretching from 110 miles to more than 300 miles east of Norfolk. But no further radio transmissions were reported.

The sole message said: "Any station this network. This is (and then gave the code name for the Scorpion)."

The navy said the code name has been repeated numerous times in communications among the search force ships and planes.

Ingraham said the navy did not definitely believe the message came from the Scorpion. He added it could have come from a shore radio.

The Pentagon previously cautioned against overoptimism that a dramatic development had occurred. Like Ingraham, the Pentagon said the message could have been a hoax.

One of the navy craft picking up the message took a bearing of 75 degrees on the signal. But because no other ship could get a second bearing, there was no fix—or point of transmission—available.

Ingraham said: "It is extremely doubtful that a transmission of this type could be originated by a submarine that may be submerged or bottomed in that vicinity—the general area where the signal was heard."

FIRE ROAR in Paris as students and workers demonstrate against the government of Gen. de Gaulle today. The president made it clear in his speech that he planned action against such actions, and pledged to restore order.

I Will Not Quit Says de Gaulle Getting Tough

PARIS (CP) — President de Gaulle said today France is threatened by a "totalitarian Communist" dictatorship and he has no intention of resigning. He dissolved the National Assembly, which means new elections, but kept Georges Pompidou as premier.

De Gaulle spoke to the nation by radio. His voice was firm and vigorous. He seemed to be in a fighting mood, after holding back during the two weeks that the strike waves have been spreading and threatening France with economic paralysis.

He spoke in short, clipped sentences and said he would consider "other means than the immediate elections" if the worker showdown of force continued against his government.

"In the present circumstances I shall not withdraw," he said.

"I have a mandate from the people. I shall fulfill it. I will not change the premier, whose value, solidity and capacity merit the homage of all."

De Gaulle and the government had seemed to be vacillating in the face of a suffocating strike wave that has made idle an estimated 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 workers and closed all universities.

But the president indicated that his patience was at an end and that he intended to use the tools of the government vigorously in a counterattack.

De Gaulle said that he was postponing the date of the scheduled June 18 referendum on his program of reform for the economy and universities. He gave no date for the parliamentary elections but said they would be held within the limit set by the constitution. The constitution provides that elections shall be held 20 to 40 days after the assembly is dissolved.

De Gaulle asserted that "the present situation physically prevents" a vote on the referendum at this time.

He said that the elections for deputies would be held "unless an attempt is made to gag the entire French people by preventing it from expressing itself at the same time as an attempt is made to keep it from living, by the same means as students are prevented from studying, teachers from teaching, workers from working."

"The means are intimidation, deception and tyranny exerted by groups long organized for the purpose by a party which is a totalitarian enterprise, though it has rivals in this respect," he declared.

Wild Scenes In Parliament As End Of Session Called

PARIS (Reuters) — National Assembly President Jacques Chaban-Delmas today declared the dissolution of the lower house of the French parliament—as decided by President de Gaulle—amid scenes greater than any since the Second World War.

The formal session lasted three minutes.

As Chaban-Delmas declared "the session is ended," Gaullist deputies broke into thunderous applause and several tied their tricolor sashes around their chests to march out of the room.

Communist and other opposition members remained on their benches and, after the Gaullists left, sang the Marseillaise—French national anthem—as shushers stood stiffly to attention.

They then chanted "de Gaulle resign" and "long live the republic" before leaving the chamber.

FRANCOIS MITTERRAND, above, leader of the Federation of the Left, described de Gaulle's speech as a "call for civil war." "The left-wing parties will answer it," he added.

Legion's Centennial Fund Will Be Held Until 1970

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — A $1,000,000 centennial fund set up to perpetuate the aims and objects of the Canadian Legion won't be touched until 1970, convention delegates meeting here decided Wednesday.

The convention agreed with a trustees' recommendation that the money not be touched before the Legion's 1970 convention, when a firm policy on the use of the fund will be established.

Invested in national provincial and municipal bonds, the money raised during a special centennial drive will gather $66,000 a year in interest charges.

Legionary magazine editor John Huneved, 65, of Ottawa, was presented Wednesday with the Legion's highest honor—the Meritorious Service Medal.

When Mr. Huneved took over the magazine in 1932, it had a circulation of less than 11,000 and was in debt. The circulation now stands at 303,000, and profit over the past 20 years was more than $250,000.

His assistant for 16 years, Lorne Manchester, also of Ottawa, becomes editor Jan. 1, 1969, when Mr. Huneved steps down to become honorary editorial advisor.

The convention also approved a 1968 balanced budget of $1,181,549—an increase of about $72,000 over last year.

Expenses in 1968 will include $123,800 for an office which helps veterans appealing for higher disability pensions.

Legion administrative costs are expected to be $450,000. And its youth sports program will cost an estimated $100,000, half of which comes from government grants.

Main revenue source for the Legion is a $2.40 per capita annual fee paid by the 300,000 Legion members.

Simon Fraser University Rebuts Teachers' Charge

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) — The Canadian Association of University Teachers Wednesday censured Simon Fraser University but the university said it does not expect any trouble in retaining or recruiting teachers.

The CAUT's action, announced in Ottawa, followed investigation of differences between administration and faculty at SFU. And differences continued Wednesday night after blacklisting was announced.

Dr. Patrick McTaggart-Cowan, SFU president, said the move was "untimely. But, he said, "I do not expect a single resignation because of this and I don't think we'll have any difficulty recruiting."

Dr. Konji Okuda, faculty association president, disagreed. He said the best of staff would leave and new teachers would shy away from joining a university where conditions are "sub-standard."

Faculty unrest has been bubbling, and periodically boiling over, for more than a year at the university, opened in this Vancouver suburb in late 1965. It now has 5,200 students and 350 teachers.

A CAUT committee investigated problems on campus late last year and in February produced a report saying administration was "feudal" and governors interfered too much in academic affairs.

Dr. McTaggart-Cowan said the CAUT committee raised some good points but some appeared based on poor information. Discussions and studies on administration and procedures had been continuing.

JEOPARDIZE TALKS?

The president said it was "unfortunate that the CAUT wishes to try to impose a time scale on these deliberations" and he hoped the censure motion would not jeopardize talks and studies.

Dr. Okuda said that, if anything, discussions have made the situation worse "because we don't know to whom we are supposed to be talking." "We are completely frustrated," he said.

Gas Blast Kills 9

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A flaming gas explosion wrecked a suburban day nursery Wednesday, killing nine persons, seven of them children 16 months to four years old. Three other children were injured.

Two women employees of the nursery in suburban Hapeville died while trying to save the young children in their care.

Fire Chief J. P. Nunn said the explosion occurred after the operator of a bulldozer struck a gas line in front of the building.

Trudeau Confronts Stanfield Weather

HALIFAX (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau ran into Stanfield weather at an outdoor meeting here today.

The rain drove down in buckets as he addressed a soaked crowd of about 1,000 at the Bayers Road shopping centre.

A temporary roof was erected on the stand but nobody except the prime minister had much protection from the elements.

The shopping centre is in Halifax-East Hants riding, adjoining the one where Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield seeks a Commons seat.

Mr. Trudeau was met by some booing and some shouts of derision from persons holding placards supporting Mr. Stanfield, former Nova Scotia premier. However, Mr. Trudeau said he didn't mind how long the shouting went on because, "I'm out of the rain."

He said there might not be a sun today, but "there is sunshine in the hearts of the citizens of Canada."

This drew some groans from the Stanfield supporters and Mr. Trudeau said, "I see a few blue faces over here."

At another point the prime minister said: "I hear a bit of static over here."

In a short talk, Mr. Trudeau said his government will do away with regional disparities so that all Canada will have the same standard of economic welfare. Each area of Canada would be made self-sustaining, a phrase previously used by Mr. Stanfield.

Mr. Trudeau said a new department for regional growth will be established. Elimination of disparities would be accomplished by perfecting and streamlining the present system.

"We must have one nation in one country and there is no other way to remain united," Mr. Trudeau said.

A few in the crowd began to leave even before he finished his three-minute talk. But many more, drenched to the skin, crowded around the platform to shake his hand.

It was the second day in a row that rain had interfered with the prime minister's campaigning.

He cancelled appearances at two shopping centres at Ottawa Wednesday evening because of a downpour there.

There were also a few NDP placards around the platform here and one sign read: "Raise real issues—jobs, housing."

World Ban Threatens Rhodesia

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters) — Rhodesia today faced the prospect of a ban on almost all its trade.

A far-reaching resolution approved unanimously Wednesday night by the 15-country Security Council decided all nations should halt exports to, and imports from, Rhodesia in a bid to topple the white-minority government in Salisbury.

The only exceptions would be for medical supplies, educational news material, and foodstuffs in certain special circumstances.

Despite the broad nature of the resolution, a note of warning about its effectiveness was sounded by Ambassador G. Parthasarathi of India. He said certain states—plainly meaning South Africa and Portugal in particular—were likely to continue to aid Rhodesia.

The council acted under the provisions of chapter seven of the UN charter, which makes its decision binding on all members.

Two Charged In Kidnapping

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two unemployed carpenters were to appear in magistrate's court today on charges laid Wednesday night in the kidnapping Tuesday of socialist Dallis Boulbee, 53.

Charles William Godfrey, 53, and Wilfred Edward Rediac, 37, were arrested after Mrs. Boulbee was found alive late Tuesday, in a bush area in the city where she had been held 16 hours.

A note at the Boulbee home had said that if $1,000,000 ransom was not paid, Mrs. Boulbee would be returned "in little pieces." She was in good condition in hospital, suffering shock. Godfrey, of suburban Coquitlam, and Rediac, of suburban Port Moody, were charged with intent to hold the woman for ransom or to service against her will. Police hunted a third man.

Rediac also was charged with possession of an offensive weapon.

IWA At Duncan Votes To Strike

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP) — The 4,500-member Duncan local of the International Woodworkers of America said Wednesday members have voted 94 per cent for strike action, if necessary, to back contract demands.

Returning to voting by other IWA locals are expected by this weekend. The union's 28,000 coast members have been conducting a strike vote at the suggestion of employers.

Cancellation talks among representatives of the IWA and Forest Industrial Relations, representing 126 operators, broke off earlier this month and FIR said the union "might as well" hold a strike vote.

Banks Halt Francs Trade

Trading in French francs ceased in banks in Western European capitals today after the Bank for International Settlements in Basel, Switzerland, stopped supporting the franc on behalf of the French Central Bank.

So far, reports of a halt in dealings in francs have come from Zurich, Frankfurt, The Hague, Brussels and Stockholm.

Miners Killed

TOKYO (Reuters) — Three miners were killed and 33 injured Thursday when poisonous methane gas filled a coal mine after a cave-in at Tagawa City in central Japan.

PLEA FOR UNIONISTS

Solicitor-General John Turner, above, said in Vancouver that two fishermen's union officials in jail seven months for contempt of court may be paroled. Mr. Turner, in Vancouver campaigning for Vancouver Centre Liberal candidate Ron Barford, said Homer Stevens and Steve Stavenes of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union are technically eligible for parole, but he has advised the chairman of the National Parole Board to take the case under advisement. They are serving one-year terms.

Peace Negotiators In Paris May Have To Move Elsewhere

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnam peace talks which the French welcomed less than a month ago may have to be shifted away from Paris in the next few weeks if France's domestic crisis continues.

So far Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy and their delegations have gone about their meetings without interruption or any serious inconvenience. They live and work in a world apart from the demonstrations of students and workers, the street battles in the Latin Quarter, and the political agonies of a Society in rebellion.

But no one is sure how long the isolation of the conference can continue. The negotiating teams are dependent on the French economy for food and services. As far as is known they rely primarily on French facilities for their communications.

Perhaps the most serious problem for the Americans to date has been to arrange transportation in and out of the country.

They and other members of the North Vietnamese delegation live outside Paris at Choisy Le-Roi. They moved from the Hotel Lutetia, about a mile from the Latin Quarter, two weeks ago. The move was understood to mean they were settling in for long negotiations here. It also took them far away from the turbulence of the university area.

Harriman and his team live in the Hotel Crilloplace de la Concorde across the Seine River from the Latin Quarter. Their offices are next door in the U.S. Embassy. This district which also includes the Elysee Palace, President de Gaulle's official residence, has been under massive police guard since the trouble started.

"If things get no worse," one American said, "we can go on like this indefinitely."

But among some of the Americans there is concern that things may get worse.

Church Wants Mental Exam For 'Mystic Cult's' Leader

TORONTO (CP) — An Anglican church commission Thursday recommended a psychiatric examination for Canon Moore Smith, the clergyman held nearly 18 years in the death of an 18-year-old girl in the rectory of St. Matthias Church.

The commission said the former rector of St. Matthias should submit to a psychiatric exam within a month.

If the report is satisfactory and if Canon Smith promises to abide by canon law, he could take a post under supervision and eventually assume charge of a parish again, the commission said in a written report.

A similar probation was recommended for the assistant curate, Rev. Douglas Tisdall. Both men resigned in October after an inquest into the death of Katherine Globe of Burlington. She died in a rectory bedroom, screaming with pain from a brain abscess and meningitis in June, 1967.

The inquest jury found that her guardians, Canon Smith and his wife Violet, had not called a doctor because their judgment was clouded by religious beliefs in a faith-healing cult at St. Matthias.

The commission's report said the ministry at St. Matthias became increasingly marked by exorcism, speaking in tongues, shaking and hearing of voices as guidance. Group controls were imposed and ultimately the whole ministry was called into question when attempts were made to raise Miss Globe from the dead.

Counterfeit Bills Seized By RCMP

MONTREAL (CP) — City police and RCMP Wednesday arrested several men and seized an envelope containing nearly $3,000 in counterfeit $20 bills, a shotgun and a baseball bat in a raid on a north-end nightclub. Police said they believe the counterfeit money is part of a series which included another $33,000 in $20 bills picked up in a Victoria Day raid in another north-end raid.

Pitfalls Of Nationalism Seen In de Gaulle Crisis

Jean Marchand, state secretary and minister of manpower and immigration, Wednesday used French President Charles de Gaulle as an example of the pitfalls of nationalism. "He went around the world trying to exploit French nationalism," he said, "while the workers at home continued to have economic problems." He told the audience at a Liberal party meeting in suburban St. Pierre, Montreal. "Now see what 'grandeur nationale' gets you," he added, referring to current unrest in France. Mr. Marchand said policies based completely on nationalism without attention to economic realities could lead French Canada into similar difficulties.

New Democratic leader T. C. Douglas Wednesday turned down an invitation in Vancouver to debate Canadian unity with Ray Perrault, former B.C. Liberal leader, his election opponent in Burnaby-Seymour.

Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith's Rhodesian Front party has rejected the idea of equality between whites and Negroes in a new system of government being drawn up by party leaders. Political sources reported in Salisbury. Instead, the party has come up with a constitutional blueprint which would guarantee virtually indefinite white domination.

In Georgetown, Ont., Canadians have adopted a wait-and-see attitude about the June 25 federal election. E. Davie Fulton, former Conservative justice minister, said Wednesday. Speaking at a luncheon, Mr. Fulton said there is no definite trend by the voters yet toward the Conservatives or the Liberals. "It means the people are stopping and thinking about the problems of our country and because of this I feel a trend will develop in favor of the serious approach of Robert Stanfield."

Senator Charles Gavan Power, "Chubby" to a host of friends during a long political career, died today in Ottawa. He was 80.

Registered nurses in British Columbia have voted 81 per cent to hold a strike vote among 61 B.C. hospitals. The action came Wednesday in New Westminster after they rejected salary increases recommended by a conciliation board. There are about 4,100 nurses in the 61 hospitals. The conciliation board would have given them raises ranging from 21.8 per cent to 27.4 per cent. "The association has notified the department of labor of the rejection and has asked the department to conduct a strike vote," said Evelyn Hood, director of personnel services for the association.

Doctors at Trail Wednesday reported a case of tick paralysis in a five-year-old girl from Northport, Wash., the second case reported in southern British Columbia in seven days. A heavily-gorged wood tick was removed from the girl's body at nearby Rossland. Authorities said she was unable to walk before treatment but showed marked improvement after the tick was removed. Dr. Nick Schmitt, director of the West Kootenay Health Unit, said blood-feeding wood ticks apparently are abundant in the area this year.

Mr. Justice Arthur Douglas Macfarlane, QC — businessman, newspaper editor and judge of the British Columbia Supreme Court — died in Royal Jubilee Hospital, Victoria, Tuesday at age 85. He lived to see his son, Alan B., former Liberal MLA for Oak Bay, appointed a judge of the B.C. Supreme Court on April 26.

Ball was set at $1,500 each in Vancouver Magistrate's Court Wednesday for two Prince Rupert youths who allegedly sold 32 capsules of the hallucinatory drug LSD and 30 tablets of methedrine to an undercover RCMP officer. Prosecutor Digby Kier alleged that after the sale police raided a downtown hotel room where they found more capsules. Charged with trafficking in a controlled drug are Garry Donald Parkinson, 20, and William Robert Turcotte, 18. Magistrate Les Bewley remanded the two youths until June 6.

Quebec's Premier Has Little Choice In Hydro Deal

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson has little choice but to give the go-ahead to the signing of a formal agreement to the purchase of Labrador power by Hydro-Quebec. Any undue delay could leave the province short of hydro power in less than four years, especially with Quebec requirements doubling every eight years.

Meanwhile, the official signing of the power contract between Hydro-Quebec and the Churchill Falls (Labrador) Corp. Ltd. is being held up pending final study of a draft agreement by Mr. Johnson's cabinet.

Mr. Johnson has said the text of the proposed agreement has been drafted and that "lawyers have only to discuss the commas and periods." He added he would like to see the contract signed within a few weeks.

When in full swing the huge underground power plant will generate 5,225,000 kilowatts, or 7,000,000 horsepower. The schedule calls for completion of the project by 1976.

Churchill Falls power will be transmitted to the Labrador-Quebec border but Hydro-Quebec will have to provide transmission lines from the border to tie in with its Manicouagan project 500 miles east of Montreal.

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia will host this year's Governor-General's Cup National Air Rally. It was announced Tuesday. About 125 planes are expected to take part in the navigational rally June 29 and to be based at Pitt Meadows Airport, about 20 miles east of Vancouver.

SCHOLARSHIP PLANNED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dean Walter Gage, associated with the University of British Columbia since 1921, is to be honored by a $500 scholarship bearing his name. Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz, UBC board chairman, made the announcement Wednesday and said it will be awarded on conditions Dean Gage suggests.

STRIKE FAVORED

MERRITT, B.C. (CP) — Employees at Craigmont Mine, the scene of a six-month walkout in 1966, have voted 91 per cent in favor of striking again to back demands for wages to be brought up to the general industrial level. Earlier they rejected a company offer of a 27-cent hourly wage increase over three years on the present base rate of $2.45 an hour.

LAUNDRY BID MADE

VANCOUVER (CP) — A cash offer of $1,500,000 by an international laundry and dry cleaning company for Nelson's Laundry Ltd., the largest laundry and dry cleaning company in British Columbia, was recommended Wednesday by Nelson's board of directors. The move by Steiner Canada Ltd., a subsidiary of Steiner American Corp., with operations in Australia, South Africa, West Germany, Italy and Japan, will not affect personnel or management.

TRANSPLANT PLANNED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Surgeons planning Vancouver's first kidney transplant operation next fall hope a new anti-rejection serum will be available then. A serum known as anti-lymphocyte or ALS is being clinically tested at medical centres across Canada and preliminary studies indicate it can prolong graft survival as do the drugs that have been used in the world's first transplant operations.

DEAD WORKER IDENTIFIED

VANCOUVER (CP) — A man identified Tuesday night under a falling pile of steel has been identified as Ronald McCabe, 38, of Vancouver. He was working at the Western Canada Steel plant in Richmond when a pile of steel fell on him and a fellow workman.

Liberals Farming Policy To Be Seen Within Week

VIRIDEN, Man. (CP) — Agriculture Minister Greenfield Wednesday told a Liberal rally the government will announce a policy on agriculture within the next week, particularly involving the wheat surplus situation.

He did not elaborate on the policy which he said was discussed by the cabinet earlier in the day in Ottawa.

Mr. Greene was speaking at a rally in support of James Bates, Brandon-Souris Liberal candidate for the June 25 federal election.

The minister said the Liberal administration in the last four years in office had sold as much wheat in their worst year as the previous Conservative government had in their best year. He said he feels the surplus wheat problem is a short-range situation and that in the long run as Kennedy round tariff wheat prices were ratified, Canadian wheat again would control the major share of the world export market.

Mr. Greene said he might be able to release some details of the Liberal agriculture policy today in Regina. He said the policy being "finalized by the prime minister and cabinet" in Ottawa would provide some short-term assistance to farmers caught by bulging granaries and short sales of wheat.

Predicting the possible "ruin of Canada" by Conservative Leader Stanfield, Quebec Premier Johnson and his former advisor Marcel Faribault, Mr. Greene went on to praise former Conservative leader John Diefenbaker.

"John Diefenbaker was a great campaigner," he said, "and little success did we have with him out here on the prairies, but no one can deny that John Diefenbaker is a great Canadian."

"He (Mr. Diefenbaker) stood for leadership last fall because he would have no party he was connected with accept the idea of 'deux nations' and he is running for office again for the same reason—to fight this dangerous thing."

Farmers See Last Of Loans

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian farmers have seen the last of the government-guaranteed, five-per-cent bank loan.

Chartered banks are not compelled to make the loans and, in fact, they quit doing so late last year.

The Farm Improvement Loans Act, which has authorized the five-per-centers for 24 years, runs out June 30. No Parliament is sitting to renew it on any terms.

Whether a new farm loans statute will arrive with the fall session depends on government decisions still to be made, sources say.

Earlier this year Mitchell Sharp, then finance minister, planned a change in the legislation to make the interest rate subject to alteration by the cabinet. This would have permitted it to fluctuate with market rates.

RUB OUT AMENDMENT

The adjournment of the Commons for the Liberal leadership convention and its dissolution for the June 25 election rubbed out this amendment to the program.

The five-per-cent rate has held little attraction for the banks since they were freed from a six-per-cent lending ceiling a year ago, under terms of the new Bank Act.

The more liberal act encourages a range of rates suited to risk and to lending purposes.

In the same period, interest rates around the world have moved sharply higher, and the prime bank customers in Canada currently are paying 7½ per cent. The banks pay more than five per cent to depositors for the very money they are lending.

As a consequence, outstanding farm improvement loans de-weeks in Camp Borden, Ont. Winner of the RCMP trophy for best average rifle shot was Corp. John Rodall. The Henry Hobson trophy for the best recruit of the year went to cadet Bryan Claggett, runner-up was cadet Frank Ka-minsky. The Harold Long trophy for the best cadet of the year was presented to WO2 Grant Walker, runner-up was Sgt. David Mattick. A reception for cadets and parents at the Legion Hall followed the presentations.

All That's Needed Are The Walkers

Plans appear to be complete for the Dr. Knox Secondary School Red Cross club's marathon walk Saturday. The walk is intended to raise money to help equip the new wing of the Kelowna General Hospital. Money is raised through sponsorship of individual walkers, with sponsors paying from a few cents to several dollars for each mile walked. A person can enter by finding his own sponsor and registering at the Dr. Knox school at 8 a.m. The walk begins an hour later. There is no entry fee.

Sue Allan, club spokesman, says the club is hoping for as many as 1,000 entries. The walk initially heads north along the golf course, through Glenmore and into Kelowna. The walkers then proceed south through the city into Okanagan Mission and east into the East Kelowna area.

Same Old Clean-up Story Some Help, Others Won't

Operation Cosmetic, the annual clean-up of refuse in Kelowna, is continuing. Ald. Thomas Angus said about three-quarters of the city has been covered by a special committee. However, letters will not be sent to the public until all reports from the committee have been completed.

Three particular areas of the city were noted. In a view of the north end of the city from Knox Mountain, Ald. Angus noted the tremendous improvement in the past three years of the residential section, particularly at the base of the mountain. He said, though, the residential section is in an overall poor condition. He complimented a service station in the north end which had been completely painted, after being asked for only minor clean-ups.

In the downtown section, the main street is in generally good condition, but there are still too many buildings which could be vastly improved by spending as little as $100 or $200, particularly on painting. There are many poor buildings between good ones. The alleys behind these business stores are in a generally unfavorable condition and many are in a poor state. Many need bricks painted and garbage

Sheds in alleys in the residential section of the city are primarily old sheds, used at one time for sawdust but no longer in use. Many should be torn down, as they are in poor shape and present a hazard. Those that are in use in most cases need to be painted. Ald. Angus compliments any effort made by the public, but says there are still too many who haven't tried. There are some cases where the city is at fault and letters will also be sent to the city engineer pointing out these areas. Ald. Angus said: "People in Kelowna are town conscious and will generally help as much as they can to benefit the city. They go out of their way to show visitors the city. They have a civic pride in Kelowna."

Final Detergent Study Report Due From Clarke In August

A final report on the detergent survey carried out in the Kelowna area by Dr. D. A. Clarke, will be made in August at the next meeting of the South Okanagan Union Board of Health.

The medical health officer made an interim report Wednesday at the second quarterly meeting in Kelowna. He said 6,500 questionnaires were sent and 3,049, or 47 per cent, returned.

Indications are that 36 tons of phosphorus is being discharged into Okanagan Lake, Dr. Clarke said. Some 150 products are included in the testing program, with 40 analyzed to date. Of the 40, 13 had no phosphorus, four were classed a low in phosphorus content, two medium and 21 as high.

Dr. Clarke said more tests were being made in laundromats and restaurants. "It is proving a bigger job than we first thought," he said. "I will be making a full report to the city council and to the board by the next quarterly meeting."

Sanitary inspector Fred Alcock said several weekly samples will be made this summer at beaches and pools in the health unit area, which will give "the relative picture on the situation in the Okanagan." Creeks are also being tested for pesticides, nitrates and phosphates.

A letter was read from the federal minister of health and welfare, in response to a resolution of the board's, expressing concern on the transportation of pesticides in the same vehicle as foodstuffs.

The minister said there is no law governing the shipping of pesticides but said more work is being done on possible legislation to govern the type of containers for pesticides, which might eliminate those which can break in transit.

A letter was also read from R. G. Williston, minister of lands, forests and water resources, in response to one from the board, expressing objections to an amendment to the Pollution Control Act, which might curtail who may object to the granting of permits to discharge sewage.

The minister replied that the director will have the final say in whether an inquiry should be held.

The South Okanagan board members will ask Mr. Williston to notify them when a permit is granted in the union board of health area. Other health units will be asked to make the same request of the minister.

Dr. Clarke told the board members he was concerned because the pollution control brief submitted by the board at the Townhouse hearing in March, was not accepted as evidence and was not included in the hearing transcript.

Apparently there was some question of technicalities in making a written objection prior to the hearing and whether the hearing would accept only "new evidence."

Dr. Clarke registered his objection to the omission to Mr. Williston in the same letter regarding changes to the Pollution Control Act, but the minister had ignored the objection in his reply. Dr. Clarke is to pursue the topic in further letters to the minister.

The board had requested the minister of health services to increase grants to the Alcoholism Foundation of B.C. to help it increase its field work. A reply was read, saying this was being considered.

SOCIETY SUPPORTED
Also attending the quarterly meeting was David McMullen, biologist and insect ecologist with the Summerland Revere Station, speaking on the work of the Okanagan-Similkameen Parks Society, which works to have more park and conservation land set aside in the Okanagan. The board voted to support the society in its work.

The last documentary film showing of the season will be held in the library board room Wednesday at 8 p.m. Film will include "Fascinating Fiji and the Orient, on loan from the P and O Orient Lines, and Everybody's Prejudiced."

Alexandra McGavin, piano music examiner for the Board of Examiners, Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto, will conduct examinations in Kelowna June 5 to 7. Miss McGavin holds licentiate diplomas in piano from London and the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto.

THE KOLWANA—and District Credit Union will move to its new, spacious modern building at 1475 Ellis St., Tuesday.

An estimated 25,000 school children and adults in School District 23 (Kelowna) will have had skin tests and chest X-rays during Operation Doorstep, being carried out in this area May 21 to June 21. The mobile van will be in Kelowna Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Seventh-day Adventist Church has no connection with the demolition or salvaging of material from the Raymond Apartment block, as reported in a story in the Courier Wednesday.

Police are seeking an elderly Postill Lake area man, missing since last week. Jim Moir of Postill Lake Road was last seen a week ago. Neighbors told police Monday Mr. Moir had not been seen for several days.

Police say Mr. Moir occasionally came to Kelowna for several days and are checking this possibility. An RCMP tracking dog was used Wednesday afternoon and was to be used again this afternoon.

Anyone with information regarding Mr. Moir should contact the Kelowna RCMP detachment.

REPORT CHECKED
Police are investigating a break-in at Shop Easy Superette, 2728 Pandosy St., during the night. The report was received early today.

Librarian Peter Loftis can put his hand between a textile doll and the canvases on which it is mounted, in an unusual art exhibit in the library board room. Sponsored by the Kelowna Art Exhibit

Society, the exhibit features hand printing of textiles, the work of three graduates of the Alberta College of Art. The diploma (four year) applied art and general crafts course includes experiments with new inks and dyes, work with batik, block printing and silk screening as well as work with metal, weaving or fabric. The library exhibit is on textiles only. The exhibit hangs to June 3. (Courier photo)

Community Chest Losing Secretary

The Central Okanagan Community Chest today announced the retirement of its executive secretary, Mrs. E. H. Prance after eight years of service. A new secretary will arrive in Kelowna about June 1 and Mrs. Prance will leave about June 15.

Also announced today is the appointment of Lionel Wace of Kelowna as the 1968 president of the Central Okanagan Community Chest. Still to be named is the campaign chairman and his committee.

The executive secretary is the only permanent staff member of the agency and May 28 marked the last meeting for Mrs. Prance.

Chest officials say her job is the most important position in Community Chest, that she keeps it running.

Her duties include directing and organizing volunteers to chair and direct various board committees in connection with the annual canvass.

She accounts for and allocates donations, under the direction of the board.

"Generally, she told directors what to tell her to do," is the way one official put it.

Mrs. Prance joined the community chest in May, 1960, during the past eight years, thanks largely to her efforts, collection quotas increased from $27,000 to $59,000.

During her term of office, agencies in the chest have been increased, with the Red Cross now the largest member agency.

Other officers for 1968, appointed from the directorate are: Ald. E. R. Winter, immediate past president and Kelowna city council representative; C. H. Irish, vice-president and Red Cross agency representative; Eric Lindwall, treasurer; W. R. Bennett, 1967 campaign chairman and director; Percy McCallum, chairman of the budget committee and Rev. Lynn Anderson, director and a member of the budget committee.

Dr. D. M. Black is membership chairman and serving his third year as head of the professional division of the annual campaign.

Other directors are: Monty Cordingley, public relations; Mrs. Vern Norman, Westbank representative; Hugh Berneau, Okanagan Centre; Lee Nevaumont, Esail Meikle; Colin Cley; Dr. Reba Willis, representing the provincial agency review committee and Mrs. T. J. Stephens. Other agency representatives include Capt. Grace Harris from the Salvation Army and Mrs. Jesse Ford for the Red Cross. The 18 people make up the volunteer staff of the chest.

Dr. Clarke said there was no established rule about what constitutes pollution, but his guide was 200 coliforms per 15 ounces and some beaches had "over 1,000" and some Kelowna areas were up to 2,400 and higher.

"We do have a problem," he said and added the mobile laboratory is a "fresh new, approach for North America."

Mayor R. F. Parkinson was not present for the discussion, but in opening the meeting he said Kelowna has agreed to double its $500 donation to the Okanagan Pollution Control Council, to help with the costs involved in the testing this summer.

Three Months Of Walking For Young City Motorist

A Kelowna youth lost his licence for three months in magistrate's court today after he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to confine his vehicle to the right side of a road.

F. E. Fisher was fined $75 in addition to the suspension. He was charged after an accident May 19 on Poplar Point Drive at 4:55 a.m.

The car Fisher was driving failed to negotiate a curve, crossed the road and overturned.

Allan Erickson of Kelowna was fined $75 for driving without due care and attention Monday on Pandosy Street. Erickson was charged after his car struck another car stopped for a pedestrian at Strathcona Avenue at 4:05 p.m.

Moval Purnell of Kelowna was fined $50 for failing to yield the right-of-way May 22 at Ellis Street and Cawston Avenue at 4:55 p.m.

Gordon Parkin of Kelowna was remanded until June 7 on a charge of theft under $50. No plea was entered when he appeared in court today.

Family Life Education Class Helps Youths Avoid Confusion

The Dr. Knox Secondary School program on family life education was explained Wednesday to members attending a South Okanagan Union Board of Health meeting in Kelowna.

Speaking were two school counsellors, Mrs. Norman DeHart and William Halyk. Textbooks, films and tapes are used for the course, which begins with Grade 6 girls and Grade 8 boys and is carried through Grade 9.

Mrs. DeHart said young people are confused and experience conflicts as a result of new ideas being presented to them.

"We ask them to stay in school longer these days and forego marriage, yet they are being continually sexually stimulated by movies, novels, mass media and given more freedom than ever before," she said.

She said there is a need for guidelines and knowledge to let them know what is happening to them.

The course combines sex education with anatomy, physiology and student discussions, establishing attitudes, a way of acting and moral values.

Parents must give their consent before students can attend the courses.

Mr. Halyk showed a film on reproductive organs and played parts of tapes made by lecturers with students in the U.S.

The speakers said young people are being shoved into a too-early sexual consciousness by toys (dolls with sexy shapes) elaborate hairstyles at the Grade 1 level, nylon and heels at too early an age, "breast to chest" dancing lessons at the Grade 7 level.

Adults were blamed for promoting these things, with the hope their child would be socially acceptable.

At the end of the talk and film showing, one elderly board member said: "It makes you wonder how we ever managed at all 60 years ago."

Laboratory And Student Will Roam Through Valley

The Okanagan will get a mobile laboratory about July 1, a gift from a national detergent manufacturers' association.

The lab will be manned by Richard Roberts, a University of Victoria student taking his master's degree and having special training in water quality work.

Ald. Hilbert Roth, acting chairman of the second quarterly meeting of the Union Board of Health for the South Okanagan Health Unit, in Kelowna Wednesday, termed the arrival of the mobile unit "a god-send."

"It will give us some facts to work with," he said, referring to water quality tests to be made on Okanagan Lake.

"There are some people left in the area, including some members of my own council, who don't believe our lake is polluted."

Ald. Frank McDonald of Penticton objected to Mr. Roth saying the laboratory tests would prove Okanagan Lake was polluted.

"Our lakes are pure," he said. Mr. McDonald said his council is concerned with seeing the lakes are kept pure and he felt everyone should be willing to spend money to this end.

Mr. Roth said he understood from Dr. D. A. Clarke the lake had a high bacteria count. The medical health officer confirmed that "spot areas" had high counts last year, such as at certain beaches and at Okanagan Falls.

"When the matter comes up at council meetings, some members say 'Oh not him again,' they want to bury their heads," said Mr. Roth.

"If we can get proof from testing, then something can be done."

Dr. Clarke said there was no established rule about what constitutes pollution, but his guide was 200 coliforms per 15 ounces and some beaches had "over 1,000" and some Kelowna areas were up to 2,400 and higher.

"We do have a problem," he said and added the mobile laboratory is a "fresh new, approach for North America."

Mayor R. F. Parkinson was not present for the discussion, but in opening the meeting he said Kelowna has agreed to double its $500 donation to the Okanagan Pollution Control Council, to help with the costs involved in the testing this summer.

He said an appeal has been made to all cities and communities around the lake to contribute on the basis of six cents per capita and telephone contacts with representatives from Coldstream to Osoyoos had indicated most will agree giving a total of $3,267 for testing.

The student will receive $350 plus $100 expenses per month for three months. There is a transportation cost in bringing the mobile unit here of $1,000. The laboratory is to be based in Penticton and move about the Valley.

The meal includes hot soup, meat, fish or fowl, two vegetables and a dessert for 60 cents, the cost of the food.

They are delivered to the elderly, the ill, the handicapped, those convalescing, elderly men whose wives are in hospital. Those in need are referred by doctors, public health nurses, welfare, or may contact the service direct.

Volunteers are supplied by the various churches in the community. Mrs. Benson said the service has helped the elderly from breaking up their homes and from a too-early entry into nursing homes.

Two representatives of the Kiwassa Club were at the meeting to hear the presentation.

Meals On Wheels Plan Interests Service Group

The Kiwassa Club of Kelowna is interested in starting a meal delivery service to the elderly and shut-ins, people unable to prepare their own meals.

Mrs. M. A. Benson of Penticton gave a report in Kelowna Wednesday on how the "meals on wheels" project works. She was speaking at a meeting of the South Okanagan Union Board of Health.

Taking hot meals to someone in need began in Penticton in 1967 and last year more than 800 meals were served; the same number this year to date.

The meals are prepared by the Penticton hospital and volunteers pack the food in disposable dishes, which are placed in a styrofoam tray with a lid, packed in fours in plywood boxes and delivered to homes.

Short Takes

Students have rioted in a score of countries during the past few months. They have rioted, they say, because they are frustrated with the politics and power — structure of the age. When pressed, they have nothing to put in its place except anarchy. But anarchy is not a way of life for the civilized and cultured, and never has been in any age. Anarchy is just a flag-word. But the more young people who march behind it, the more our enemies can exploit it.

There are quite a few people who have been taking some quiet pleasure out of the troubles of General de Gaulle. Doubtless those who find some pleasure in the General's embarrassment must vaguely suppose that something better than what now exists will emerge from the present uproar in France. Why should they suppose this? If the French Left could agree on a common platform, it could not necessarily be a platform beneficial to France or her neighbors. As it is, the Left cannot agree; and without such agreement the most likely successor to the present regime is not some mild, left-wing coalition, but either anarchy or a real dictatorship, with the General ruling by decree.

Recently the Scottish Nationalists created quite a sensation when they captured a number of seats in local Scottish elections. In the furor it was overlooked that in Cornwall a Nationalist was also elected. This prompted the Edinburgh Scotsman to comment: "Surely it presages the re-emergence in practical politics of the Celtic Commonwealth idea — the grand union of the sea-divided Celts of Scotland, Ireland, Wales, the Isle of Man, Cornwall and de Gaulle's Brittany. In any language it is a pretty formidable prospect — a culturally linked, non-aligned global force flexing its muscles in a bid for power now that General de Gaulle has dissipated his energies in this regard on counter — productive side-shows like 'Free Quebec'. Let those commentators who obdurately demand solvency as a prerequisite of liberty take note: The Commonwealth's finances would pose no problem. The vast areas of Canada and the United States peopled by descendants of the Gaelic diaspora would be allowed to join, bringing with them huge accretions of hard currency. As for the defence, the abolished Scottish regiments would be reconstituted and along with Glasgow's old firm supporters and possibly New York's police department, would provide an elite corps of shock troops equal to anything that NATO or the Warsaw Pact powers could put into the field."

The sudden tidal wave of strikes and protests which is now sweeping France has as its one common cause the clash between two essentially French concepts in France itself — liberty and glory. For a decade President de Gaulle has offered Frenchmen greater glory at the price of curtailed liberties at home. For ten years, gratified also by a surface appearance of stability and prosperity, they have accepted the bargain. Now, provoked by student unrest and egged on by Communist trade union leaders, they are threatening to reject it. The revolt against the regime's abuses of its television monopoly shows that the malaise grows deeper than economics and party rivalries. President de Gaulle has called for a referendum on June 16 on his as yet unannounced reforms. It is possible he will succeed for the time being with another of his grand patriotic appeals, mixed with shrewd pragmatic concessions. Only his magnetism has kept the bargain going for so long. But after the events of the past several days, it is very plain that France will be cut down drastically to her natural size and shape after his final departure from the scene. And, even before that, she can no longer be quite the same country again.

Living Costs Going Up

When the latest consumer price index is made public—and it is almost without exception higher than the previous month—many people undoubtedly have mental pictures of store clerks raising price tags on groceries and other goods, landlords sending out higher rent notices and so on. Nobody needs to be told how rapidly the cost of living is rising. The April consumer price index was almost one full point above the figure for March.

Admittedly—and thankfully—that was exceptional; otherwise we could expect the cost of living to be going up by more than seven per cent a year, whereas in the last year it has gone up by 4.3 per cent. Nevertheless the 9 increase for April is there and the trend shows no signs of abating.

What is to blame? Certainly higher costs dictate higher prices, and higher wages and salaries dictate higher costs. Wages and salaries in Canada have been rising faster than productivity and, indeed, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, faster than the cost of living. Where the price index rose 4.3 per cent in the past year, average wages and salaries in Canadian industry rose by six per cent. So the situation, as it relates to wages and prices, is not worse today than a year ago. But this is a pretty hard idea to sell.

There is, however, another factor that probably has an even greater influence on rising prices. That is taxes. This is certainly so in the most recent index rise. According to DBS, new tax levels for gasoline, cigarettes and alcoholic beverages in Newfoundland and Quebec, and the one percentage point sales tax increase in Newfoundland were the largest factors influencing the index.

Taxes are necessary to pay for government services and, at times, to withdraw purchasing power from the consumer so that he will be able to buy less and thus an over-heated economy can be cooled down. At the moment, however, what with this year's tax bills from all levels of government, and a consumer price index at 154.1, many Canadians must be feeling that they have no purchasing power left on which the government can make further demands.

'Thinking Small' Spawns A Billion Dollar Industry

NEW YORK (AP)—Thinking small has spawned a $250,000,000-a-year industry. It's microfilming—reducing paper records to tiny bits of film.

By this method, space for storing records—so vital in this day of exploding paperwork for government, business and individuals—is reduced 98 per cent. A New York bank clerk with an idea and an Oklahoma City high school dropout with a driving sales ambition have been major forces in the advancement of microfilming.

In 1928, George McCarthy's imagination was stirred by an incident in the bank where he worked. A depositor claimed his account was charged with a $300 cheque he had never drawn.

At that time a depositor's cancelled cheques were returned to him with his monthly statement, just as they are today, except that the bank at that time kept no other proof of payment. So it had to make good the $300.

The idea of photographing cancelled cheques occurred to McCarthy and he built a crude, hand-sized machine. It worked. From that he went on to develop a more compact and efficient machine called "Recordak" and went into business selling them to banks.

In 1936, Van B. Phillips was a poor, part-time runner and clerk for the First National Bank of Oklahoma City, which had bought a Recordak. He was put in charge of operating it and became fascinated with its possibilities.

He joined McCarthy's firm and today is director of marketing administrative services for Eastman Kodak Co. Recordak is a division of Eastman Kodak. Microfilming got its biggest spur in the Second World War when more than 1,500,000,000 letters were microfilmed for shipment abroad. The miniature-scale reproduction reduced the weight of an overseas mail shipment from 2,700 tons to 31 tons.

Phillips says manufacturers are perhaps the biggest users of microfilm in private industry in recording out-size engineering drawings.

In one of its more way-out applications, microfilming is being used to cut down on cattle rustling in Texas. Pictures, brands and descriptions of cattle are microfilmed and, when there are thefts, the details are circulated.

really know what ails him. Pediatricians have done wonders in recent years in finding ways to save the health of children.

But when parents don't provide the groundwork of good sleeping and eating habits—what can you expect?

Dear Dr. Molner: My father, 86, has cancer of the prostate gland. It was my understanding when he entered the hospital that the cancer would be removed. However, after the operation the doctor said only the testicles were removed. Can you tell me the purpose of this? The testicles were free of cancer.—MRS. A.S.

Evidently it was not practicable to remove the cancer, but removing the testicles, thus slowing down hormone activity, can be expected to retard growth of the cancer. At the age of 86, that is a humane and reasonable approach to the problem, and probably spared your father discomfort in the hospital as well as for the future.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would it be possible for a person to be cured of VD after 14 months, or is such a person doomed to die or go blind?—P.D.

Waiting 14 months for treatment is foolhardy—and also unfair to other people to whom the disease may be transmitted. Still, even that long after a venereal disease has been contracted, adequate treatment will prevent the danger of death or blindness. The disease can, however, do lesser harm in that 14 months.

Note to R.O.Y.: Yes, back injuries can cause arthritis. As the entrance there is no point in waiting. The sooner it is removed, the sooner you will have your sight back.

CANADA'S STORY

British Free Trade Hit Canada Hard

By BOB BOWMAN

Canada suffered a crushing economic blow on May 30, 1849, when Britain repealed what were known as the Navigation Laws. They had given British colonies preferential duties, but they were swept away when Britain decided to adopt free trade. Actually the decision was made in 1846, but the preferential tariffs did not end until 1849.

When Canadian wheat entered Britain at lower tariff rates the Americans sent their wheat to Canada to be ground into flour for export to Britain. This led to the building of flour mills, ships, and docks for the growing trade, and employment for thousands of people. Foreign investors were getting interested in building industries in British North America.

Ruin followed the end of the preference. The mills closed down, ships were idle, owners went bankrupt, and unemployment became severe. This had a great deal to do with the riots that broke out in Montreal later in the year. Although the explosion was touched off by the Rebellion Losses Bill, leaders of the riots were English-speaking businessmen. In many cases, they signed a manifesto urging that Canada join the U.S.A. One of the signers was J. J. Abbott who became prime minister of Canada years later, after the death of Sir John A. Macdonald. The economic situation was worse in Canada and the other British North American colonies until Governor-General Lord Elgin negotiated a reciprocity treaty with the U.S.A. in 1854.

OTHER EVENTS ON MAY 30: 1675—Jacques Duchesneau became first Intendant since Talon.

1698—Peter Schuyler arrived at Montreal with news of peace.

1811—Hudson's Bay Company agreed to Selkirk's Red River plan.

1838—Hudson's Bay Company got a new charter for 30 years.

1846—Fredericton, N.B., was incorporated as a city.

1855—Hamilton and Southwestern Railway received charter.

1859—Hudson's Bay Company monopoly in British Columbia was ended.

1876—Fire in Montreal destroyed 41 houses.

1883—Sir Charles Tupper was appointed High Commissioner to Britain.

1907—Alberta got armorial ensign.

1913—Senate killed government bill to establish Royal Canadian Navy.

NEWS ANALYSIS

France Revolts Over Gaullism

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

At any level, international, national or personal, all struggle on earth is for power, power to dispose of resources, including the resources of one's own energies: those are the stakes, basically, when the U.S. and China contend over South East Asia, when de Gaulle contends with his people or students with their elders. Contending groups may divide along lines of age, economic class, nationality, religion, culture or ideology, but their objective is power to dispose.

The institutions of man have always been tools for the prosecution or regulation of this contention for power. Progress has occurred when institutions have adapted themselves to new conditions, channeling into creative productivity the energy of those who felt disadvantaged under any given status quo. The opposite of progress resulted when existing institutions did not adapt to a group's energies and became a hindrance to progress. The most successful political institutions have been those that could accommodate change without putting the group through a destructive struggle between the satisfied and the dissatisfied.

CHANGE AFFECTS CHANGE

Change itself has always affected the process of change. Fire, the wheel, a unifying form of religion or the tremendous energizing influence of free inquiry were momentous changes and gave societies which first accepted these changes, great advantages.

Such changes, generating the capacity for greater power, forced smaller groups to unite into bigger groups that could handle greater power; but bigger groups are, by their very size, harder for existing institutions to organize.

The growth of international trade, for instance, poses problems we see highlighted by the gold crisis, a crisis relating to the monetary medium for this immensely complex international trade. Nuclear and electronic progress combined are crippling de Gaulle: his nuclear weaponry costs his people too much, at a time when instant communications show that other nations do better materially. Change accelerates the process of change through dissatisfaction: dissatisfaction, in the case of France, demonstrates the inability of a relatively smaller unit to cope with change—nuclear weapons are too costly for the small.

We are being forced, therefore, into larger units by technology. Already we are beginning to realize that the major problems may no longer be about how to distribute the earth, but about how to preserve it from pollution and over-population. The dissatisfaction of the distant hungry is our concern if only because they will add to global pollution. Their ignorance concerns us too, because it delays birth control. Our political and social institutions are not dealing well with such problems, both because the problems seem new and because institutions still national in scope are trying to deal with national manifestations of problems that are global.

There's Evidence Backing Myth Canada's Roads Paved With Gold

OTTAWA (CP)—There's evidence in Canada to support that myth about the streets being paved with gold.

The Canadian Good Roads Association, in a 22-page booklet entitled Highway Finance 1967, estimates total expenditure by all levels of government last year on roads was a record $1,635,000,000.

That's an increase from some $1,600,000,000 a year earlier. The 1967 outlay is made up of roughly $147,200,000 in federal funds, $1,120,000,000 from the provinces, and $368,000,000 from municipalities.

In 1945, total road expenditures were about $109,600,000. Last year revenues from user taxes topped $1,000,000,000 for the first time.

The association's booklet—bound in gold-colored covers—reports motor vehicles travelled 69,100,000,000 miles in 1967 compared with 15,800,000,000 in 1948.

There were 453,924 miles of roads and streets in Canada, of which 70,069 were paved and 231,587 were of gravel and stone.

Freeways and multi-lane rural arterial divided roads rose to 1,826 miles last year.

ONTARIO SPENDS MOST

Provincial and municipal net expenditures on the Trans-Canada increased. A slight drop in federal outlay is a result of reduced expenditures on the Trans-Canada Highway and roads-to-resources programs.

Target date for completion of the Trans-Canada Highway now is Dec. 31, 1970. Maximum federal contribution to this program is limited to $825,000,000, of which some $670,000,000 had been contributed by the end of last year.

Another federal roads item is construction and maintenance of parkways in the national capital region. This cost about $2,800,000 in the 1967-68 fiscal year.

Among the provinces, Ontario had a big lead in road costs during fiscal 1967-68 with total net expenditures hitting $405,761,000. The other provinces: Newfoundland $47,020,000; Prince Edward Island $7,500,000; Nova Scotia $43,970,000; New Brunswick $43,148,000; Quebec $245,799,000; Manitoba $40,875,000; Saskatchewan $77,059,000; Alberta $94,594,000; British Columbia $112,000,000; Yukon-N.W.T. $2,000,000.

ASK FOR COMPENSATION. PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia municipalities will ask the provincial government to assist in establishing a fund to compensate persons injured while assisting police. Delegates to the Union of B.C. Municipalities resolved to ask municipalities to contribute on a per capita basis. The province will be asked to contribute for unorganized areas.

ANN LANDERS

This Doctor's Remark To The Boy Was Stupid

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you can answer a very important question for me. I am unable to eat or sleep and will go out of my mind if I don't learn the truth soon.

Many years ago, when I was 16, I became pregnant. The father was a young fellow I had been dating. He was four years older than I and marriage was not on his mind.

Someone told us that if I took ergot or quinine all our troubles would be over. I was about six weeks along and I tried both, but nothing happened. So we were married a few weeks later. Surprisingly enough, we have been quite happy and now we have five lovely children.

Last month our eldest son complained of backaches. We sent him to a specialist for X-rays and he received the results today. He was told he has two vertebrae missing. The cartilage is there but not the bone. The specialist informed him it is a condition the doctors are expecting in the next generation as a result of LSD and other drugs the hippies are taking. He jokingly asked the boy, "What did YOUR mother do anyway?"

Ann, please tell me if the ergot and quinine I took early in the pregnancy injured this boy. I must know the truth, even if it's the worst. Much obliged.—LOAD ON MY MIND.

Dear Mind: My medical consultants have assured me that ergot and quinine taken during pregnancy does not produce a deformity in the fetus. So stop worrying. (P.S. Someone should give that doctor 10 lashes with an old stethoscope. What a stupid thing to have said to the boy!)

Dear Ann Landers: I am bored with your narrow-minded, small-town attitude toward liquor. Anyone who knows anything will tell you that moderation is the best approach—whether it's liquor, exercise, sex, or what have you. You keep repeating those tired old lies that liquor damages the liver, the stomach, the brain and probably the toenails, eh, Granny? You are forever quoting medical men as your authorities. Have you noticed that there are more old drunks around than old doctors? How about printing this in the paper with an answer, if you can think of one?—CUDDY'S ARK.

Dear Cuddy: Those old drunks you see around are probably a lot younger than they look. It's the booze that aged 'em.

HITHER and YON

A quiet pretty wedding took place Saturday at 7 p.m. in the chapel of St. James United Church, Vancouver, when Diana M. Cousins became the bride of David G. Patterson. The bride is a graduate of the University of British Columbia and the groom is an RCMP constable with the university detachment. After a two-week honeymoon in Eastern Canada the couple will reside at 3186 West 10th Avenue, Vancouver.

Guest of Mrs. D. A. Van Ochten, Taylor Road, is Mrs. C. C. Cowan from Creston.

Mrs. Laurena Diebel was surprised when she opened her door recently to see her grandson Wayne Diebel from Unity, Sask.

Mrs. Muriel Huber and Mark from Williams Lake were weekend visitors. Mrs. Huber was a former teacher at the Okanagan Academy.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Horne, Black Mountain Road, are Mrs. Thomas Choban and Tim from Regina.

Guest speaker at the Rutland Seventh-day Adventist church was Pastor Melvin E. Erickson, director of the educational program for the Adventist Church in Canada, from Oshawa, Ont. Pastor Erickson was principal of the Okanagan Academy 26 years ago. He visited the new academy building which is being constructed on Hollywood Road.

Pastor and Mrs. Alfred Fossey from Oshawa have moved to the Okanagan. Pastor Fossey is a missionary with 26 years experience in China and India.

Visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kozak, Taylor Road, were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maschke from Red Deer, Alta.

Home for a holiday are Mr. and Mrs. Ron Wolfe from Navajo, Sonora, Mexico. Ron has been assisting with the industries at the Adventist school, Colegio del Pacifico, about 700 miles south of the U.S. border. The school has a large farm where they grow wheat, soya beans and cotton.

City Guide Leader Attends Coast Provincial Meeting

Representing the North Okanagan girl guide division at the first provincial guiders' conference in Vancouver, May 22 to 24, were Mrs. W. B. Akerlund of Kelowna and Mrs. D. L. Pretulac of Vernon.

Leaders of packs, companies and crews attended from most parts of the province, from as far as Dawson Creek and Hudson Hope, east to Invermere, Canal Flats and Cranbrook.

The theme for the guiders' conference was a reiteration of the annual provincial conference theme, "Today's Girl is Tomorrow's Citizen." This reiteration was done with a purpose: The organizers of the guiders' conference felt it was such an important theme that it could do with extension in more personalized groups.

A color party marked the official opening of the conference Wednesday morning. Following this the provincial executive committee chairmen were introduced. After a coffee break the session was addressed by Mrs. Nesta Ashworth, who attended the Crystal Rally in England, at which Lord Baden-Powell introduced scouting to that country and the world. When it was discovered that a number of young ladies were also present at the rally Lord Baden-Powell persuaded his sister to organize scouting for girls and guiding came into being. Mrs. Ashworth's topic was "Guiding in the Beginning," and she pointed out that it fills the same need now as it did then, to give the girls a wider horizon.

During lunch break on Wednesday a campus tour was available for those interested. The afternoon session was chaired by Mrs. C. S. Mitchell, who is the community development consultant for Vancouver's United Community Services.

Mrs. Mitchell dealt with the question "How to develop group feeling, with spirit and involvement," and there was question time for this subject so important to guiders who are actively involved with guide companies and their workings.

Wednesday evening Dr. J. L. Frazee, of West Vancouver gave a talk on The Girl of Today. Dr. Frazee, who holds a diploma in psychiatry, discussed some of the problems facing the girls of today in their relationships with those around them.

Thursday morning Mrs. W. V. (Betty) McDonald, group consultant, and member of the Vancouver School Board headed a discussion on person-to-person relationships as pertaining to the guider and the community.

A fourth discussion leader present on Friday afternoon was Rev. Peter Collins of the United Church in Haney. Mr. Collins has had 30 years experience in scouting and is a member of the provincial training team for scouts and a group leader in Haney. His subject was Sound Personal Values and their vital importance to the guider.

Interpersed with the talks and discussions were opportunities for skill sessions with as many as 26 variations among their nature activities, international activities, singing games, campfire singing, map and compass, backpacking, lanyard making and semaphores. There were demonstration meetings conducted by a guide company and a brownie pack to assist new guiders with a knowledge of procedure.

The conference was a most rewarding experience for those attending, inspiring them to return to their packs, companies and crews and encourage the girls of today to become responsible citizens of tomorrow.

Rhythmic? We can't deny that. Everything about square dancing is based on music timing and precision. Is square dancing social? Our very motto is friendliness, fellowship, encouragement to make new friends, etc.

What about dramatics? Well, the guy on the microphone you'll find or he had better be. He has to make those folks laugh, listen and enjoy what he says, to them.

Drama Festival Has First Night

With BETHEL STEELE

Wednesday was opening night of the 'Sixteenth Annual One-Act Play Finals for the British Columbia Drama Association. The Community Theatre was well filled by about 600 theatre buffs. As an audience it was warm and receptive of the three plays presented. . . . The Kelowna original play . . . One Is Not Enough by Jim Salt; the Vernon entry . . . Peter Shaffer's The Private Ear and the Kamloop's Pinter . . . The Room.

Dr. John Bennett, festival chairman introduced Mr. Tom Kerr . . . president of the B.C. Drama Association and asked that no flash pictures be taken during performance on future nights since they are not allowed under any circumstances. Dr. Bennett also announced that Saturday night's Honor Performance would commence at 7:30 and reminded the audience that there must be strict adherence to the rule of no entry once performance has commenced.

Dr. Bennett also reminded the audience that next year would see the Showcase of Canada here in Kelowna; that he had just returned from the DDF in Windsor and that it was "believe me just fantastic".

Mr. Kerr stated he felt festivals just should be part of a whole year as far as the entry groups were concerned. He told us we are in a transitional period of the good amateur . . . the non-professional and the professional. We are also all mixed up but that whatever happens . . . the one-act play should be educational.

Mr. Kerr introduced the adjudicator . . . Mr. Gil Bunch stating that we needed, more than anything, top rank adjudicators and that Mr. Bunch is one of the best.

Mr. Bunch opened his general remarks by stating there were two main points with which he would deal, namely . . . the play itself . . . its concept and what it offers as a piece of stage literature; and what the cast has done with what the play offers as to taste, style and conception of the whole.

As for the three plays Mr. Bunch said the first was a fragile piece of this-world-of-a-dream play . . . the burnt out fragments of an old woman. The second a racy realism with all stops out. And the third, a comedy of menace . . . abrasive, frictional . . . the theatre comes out of this friction.

Mr. Bunch stated he had great respect for the first play . . . the original. It was well constructed . . . It is not dramatic . . . It does not have the dynamism of drama. It must move through us not as a book which we move through. The leading actress here was limited in pitch and pace . . . she lacked all the color of a really great compassionate role.

I did not believe in Willa as I must. The play is claustrophobic but there was no feeling of being bound in . . . the lighting must cover every character as they come and go . . . the dream-world was not separate from the real.

In regards to the second play . . . The Private Ear . . . Mr. Bunch told us it was not often that a butterfly drops in the adjudicator's lap . . . this one did. These were brilliant characterizations. Ted was a brilliant comedian but he was careless and undisciplined . . . he needs to go back and unlearn the part. Every time you hear anything to the lines you lose the integrity. Bob has a lovely line but didn't find the role except for every once in a while. The girl Doreen was controlled, disciplined and tidy . . . she was through it always . . . what a grand performance . . . My congratulations.

At this point, Mr. Bunch stated I've come to be entertained but I am difficult. And then went on to say that he was thankful the Pinter cast did not treat "The Room" symbolically. Pinter's method is to take banal and ordinary people in a commonplace setting and gives them lines that if they are remarks they are not finished and if questions are not answered. Pinter works through the ear and this director found the rhythm. Mrs. Hudd had the Pinter rhythm. The set was good. But the last part of the play missed for the actors shifted to melodrama . . . in this Mrs. Hudd was lucky to get away without snickers on the part of the audience. Pinter would say it is open to interpretation. But the play is about "not see". A little more comedy please. Bert Hudd was marvelous. Mrs. Sands was grand . . . she had all the brassiness needed with the over articulated Pinter and the eyes flashy. Mr. Sands was not so good. Mr. Kidd was tremendous . . . I don't know how old he was but I was conscious of the actor in the role. The Negro verged into symbolism . . . he should have been lighter . . . more delicate. The production was efficient . . . the director understood the play . . . but . . . leave Pinter alone . . . He is all in the script. Good night everybody!

For those who do not understand the place of the columnist or critic at festival time I wish to make it clear that what I have written about the plays is exactly as the adjudicator said it as I was able to get it down in my own peculiar shorthand.

Rights Committee's Motion Dropped At Meeting Of PTA

HALIFAX (CP) — A recommendation by the human rights committee of the Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation that children be educated in the mother tongue was deleted from the committee report during a session of the federation's annual meeting here.

The recommendation was dropped because members felt the statement was open to misinterpretation.

Mrs. George A. Nelson of Saint John, N.B., chairman of the committee, agreed to drop the recommendation because amendments would be lengthy and involved.

Also during Tuesday's session, Mrs. H. Kucarsky of Montreal, chairman of more education's family life committee, reported that a pilot survey conducted among 112 Quebec high school students showed that 55 per cent of the group had some experience in using drugs.

The report, which concerned such drugs as marijuana, LSD and amphetamines, is to be used as the model for a larger survey to be taken among 4,300 Canadian high school students chosen at random.

The validity of the report's findings was questioned by C. M. Bedford of Saskatoon, a former federation president. He maintained that because of the anonymity of the students, the credibility of their answers was in question. Professor Bedford's remarks brought heated debate on the value of the survey.

Free Trade Area 'Dangerous'

OTTAWA (CP) — Proposals for a North American free trade area including Canada were described here as "dangerous" and "naive" by manufacturer Carl A. Pollock.

Mr. Pollock, president of Electrohome Ltd. and a governor of the Ontario Research Council, hit the idea hardest during a panel discussion sponsored by the Canadian Credit Men's Association.

He said it would magnify United States dominance in North America, bring about closure of American subsidiaries, hurt exports, curb growth and accelerate unemployment.

"Tariffs are as necessary to guide the flow of international trade as traffic regulations have become to enable citizens to move about in one orderly fashion," the TV manufacturer said.

You Can Still Be Heard In France's Big Strike

PARIS (AP) — France's general strike is a long way from being general in the communications field. The dial telephone system still works. Most newspapers are publishing. And there's plenty to be heard on the radio.

The strike has stopped the mails and most telegraph service, cut off most foreign telephone calls, and reduced French television to one newscast a night and an occasional government announcement.

Employees of Agence France-Presse, the French news agency, resumed work Wednesday after a 16-hour strike. A statement released before the agency resumed its service said some of the staff's demands were met and others were being negotiated. No further details were given.

The Associated Press, United Press International and Reuters operated normally.

Employees of Agence France-Presse, the French news agency, joined the strike Tuesday night and said they did not know how long they would be out.

LONG RINGING

The dial telephone system works well enough to call any other telephone in France. But when it comes to finding an operator to place an overseas call, long ringing of telephone central usually ends with a crackling voice saying: "Don't you know there's a strike on?"

Telephone calls from abroad may be placed to numbers in France. But only emergency telegrams are being accepted by the government service.

One-day strikes temporarily closed the principal newspapers in Nantes, Marseille and Bourges. At present the leading dailies in Lyon, Grenoble and Saint-Etienne are on strike, along with the Paris sports daily L'Equipe.

But even the papers that have been publishing have had trouble distributing their copies. First the drivers were on strike and then the vendors.

The three French radio networks have been reduced to recorded music and five-minute news summaries every hour. But the so-called peripheral stations are going full blast, covering every detail of the crisis.

These private stations, which make their money from the commercials that the French government networks turn their back on, maintain studios in Paris but transmit from just outside the country.

They are Europe No. 1 in the Saar, Radio Luxembourg, Radio Monte Carlo and Radio Andorra.

Better Truck, Rail Facilities Recommended For Panhandle

OTTAWA (CP) — An independent study has recommended improvements to existing truck and rail facilities as the best way to move traffic through the Alaskan Panhandle between the Yukon and tidewater.

Several other alternative methods and routes, including use of the Alaskan port of Haines, were rejected by Travacon Research Ltd. of Calgary in a report to the federal government.

The northern development department today announced release of a "public version" of the Travacon study.

The existing Skagway-based system must soon be expanded to handle fast-growing flows of lead-zinc concentrate from the new Anvil mine and other mining developments in the Yukon. Anvil is expected to ship 420,000 tons a year by 1972.

RECOMMENDED TRUCKS The study recommended truck haul of Anvil concentrate from the mine to MacRae, a town six miles south of Whitehorse, where it would be loaded onto the existing White Pass and Yukon Railway for Skagway.

Extensive improvements would be necessary at a cost of $2,800,000, permitting the railroad to handle 600,000 tons a year.

In the event that traffic volumes increase well above levels forecast to 1972, Travacon suggests a rail extension into the Yukon interior.

If areas of the central Yukon were able to produce more than 750,000 tons of base metal concentrates a year, a $51,200,000 rail extension would be justified.

The government commissioned Travacon 18 months ago to prepare a comparative evaluation of the costs and benefits of developing a number of alternative routes for movement of resources to and from the land-bound Yukon.

HAVE ONLY ONE SYSTEM Much of the traffic now moving into and out of the Yukon is handled by a single integrated system operated by the White Pass and Yukon Corp., with extensive use of standardized containers.

Coastal ships operate between Vancouver and Skagway, a narrow-gauge railroad runs 110 miles between Skagway and Whitehorse, and a fleet of trucks operates within the Yukon.

Traffic south bound to Skagway consists almost entirely of products from the United Keno Hill mine at Mayo and the Cassiar Asbestos Mine at Cassiar, B.C.

Travacon almost immediately rejected three routes — an all-highway route to Tarr Inlet, and an all-rail route to Haines, Alaska. The three proved too expensive.

Because harbor development at Skagway or Haines appeared to have an equal balance of advantages and disadvantages, the company based port selection on overland transport costs.

The study found it difficult to justify an all-highway route to Skagway, which was a fourth possibility. A fifth possibility was an all-highway route to Haines, but this would not be competitive with the Skagway-based road-rail route now used.

Vice King Left Animals Fortune

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The Sydney Sun says vice king Joseph Borg, 35, blown up in his truck by booby trap here, is believed to have left all his money to the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The newspaper says Borg was estimated to have a net worth of $250,000 Australian ($280,000 Canadian) largely from renting back alley rooms to prostitutes. Borg came to Australia from Malta 15 years ago openless.

An Interesting Racial Mix In Trudeau Constituency

MONTREAL (CP) — Mount Royal, where Prime Minister Trudeau is seeking re-election, is a constituency of the haves rather than the have-nots and it holds an interesting racial mix. The riding includes Town of Mount Royal, Hampstead and Cote St. Luc. While these districts may not rank with Westmount, traditional heart of Montreal affluence, they aren't exactly slum areas either.

Hailed by the lively French-Canadian tune Maitre Pierre, Mr. Trudeau received the Liberal nomination unopposed before a sophisticated audience at Mount Royal's genteel town hall.

The modishly-dressed citizens cheered even when he told them: "I'll break it to you gently" — that there is no political Santa Claus, and only a few jaws dropped when he quoted St. Augustine.

"States without justice are nothing but banditries," said Mr. Trudeau in winding up his nomination acceptance speech for the June 25 federal election with a passage from St. Augustine's City of God.

CONSTITUENCY SMALLER A minute slice of Westmount is, in fact, included in the constituency which—as a result of redistribution—is smaller in voters now than when Pierre El-not Trudeau made his political debut here in the 1965 federal general election.

Confusingly enough the real Mount Royal, the well-known mountain that gives Montreal its distinctive look, stands outside the boundaries of the constituency that bears its name. The prime minister's Montreal apartment is in Westmount and thus he will not be able to vote for himself in Mount Royal.

Jacques Desjardins, secretary of the riding's Liberal association, said the population is "about 18-per-cent French-Canadian, 33-per-cent English-Canadian and 33-per-cent Jewish-Canadian" with various ethnic groups making up the balance.

In 1965 Mr. Trudeau won 28,064 votes while McGill University's Professor Charles Taylor collected 14,929 for the New Democratic Party. Peter S. Wise received 6,840 for the Progressive Conservatives and Michael Smith won 998 for the Creditistes.

WRITER NOMINATED Professor Taylor is running elsewhere this time and the NDP has nominated Austria-born Jussy Brainin, insurance broker, writer, actor and broadcaster who, like Mr. Trudeau, is 48.

Having left Austria in 1937, Mr. Brainin served six years in the British army. He and his Vienna-born wife Liel came to Canada in 1948. They have three children.

Mr. Brainin, fluent in English, French and German, was campaign manager for Professor Taylor in 1965 when the NDP displaced the Progressive Conservatives for the first time in second place in the riding.

An official recalled that Mr. Trudeau took every poll in Town of Mount Royal, a "remarkable feat," in the 1965 election but began to drop them as the count moved westward through Hampstead and Cote St. Luc.

The Progressive Conservatives and Creditistes have not yet nominated candidates.

AREA DROPPED Mr. Desjardins said much of Mr. Trudeau's NDP opposition in 1965 came from the Park extension area of Montreal, which now has been lopped from the constituency, and from heavily-Jewish Cote St. Luc.

Liberal organizers said such ethnic groups as Ukrainians and Poles in the Park extension area had favored the NDP. "If redistribution had been in force in 1965 the Liberals would have taken 57.3 per cent of the vote, the NDP 28.1 and the Progressive Conservatives 15.9," said one Liberal.

Mount Royal, which includes working-class voters in such districts as Cote des Neiges, has been Liberal since 1940 and was won in every election from 1949 to 1963 by Alan MacNaughton, former Speaker of the House of Commons.

The annual meeting of the Okanagan Chartered Accountants' Club was held in Vernon on May 24 and officers elected for the following year were: Mrs. Blanche Howard, president; Bill Knudson, vice-president; Roy Dewar, treasurer; and Nelson Menzies, secretary. A bid will be made at the June Chartered Accountants' Convention in Vancouver to have the 1971 B.C. convention held in the Okanagan.

MAYBE HER NAME IS MRS. FAGIN?

MEXICO CITY (Reuters) — A woman arrested for exploiting minors has admitted she lived from the proceeds gleaned by 50 small children who begged and peddled, police said.

Police said Dolores Escobar Pascual lived in a luxurious downtown apartment which she paid for from the earnings of the children.

The children told police the woman brought them from the village of Atlacomulco in central Mexico and taught them to beg, peddle chewing gum and candy and avoid authorities.

Social workers found several of the children begging and sleeping in the streets at night and told police.

Families Flee Forest Fire, Hamlet Burns

PARKER'S COVE, Nfld. (CP) — A fire which levelled the tiny community of Baine Harbor five miles from here was roaring down on this tiny hamlet on a half-mile front late Wednesday, forcing the 70 families of Parker's Cove to flee to the sea in boats.

The 200 people of Baine Harbor, about the same size, were forced to do the same thing a few hours earlier as the rapidly moving blaze tore into their community.

Some 30 homes, a church and an unknown number of small businesses and other buildings were destroyed in Baine Harbor, RCMP said the community was "completely burned out."

With the fire a half-mile from here and with little hope that the village could be saved, authorities ordered residents of another village five miles further northeast, Boat Harbor, to prepare for evacuation.

STARTED FROM SPARK

The five-ton coastal strip of the southern Burin Peninsula is located on the peninsula's east side about halfway into Placentia Bay and some 100 miles west of St. John's.

The fire that was moving northeastward up the peninsula was believed to have started with a spark from a chimney on the edge of Rushoon, about a mile south of Baine Harbor. Rushoon is an apparently escaped damage as the fire quickly spread to nearby woods and headed for Baine Harbor.

With the sea at their doorstep, villagers apparently had easy refuge and no injuries were reported.

Turkey Shoot Plans Made

New Business In Rutland Officially Opens Saturday

The official opening of Fortney's Esso Service, located at the corner of Black Mountain and Douglas Roads in Rutland, takes place Saturday.

Proprietor of the new location is Earl Fortney. Earl has been a garage man for many years and most recently operated Bob White's Service. Prior to that, he was with both Lipsett Motors and Kelowna Motors in Kelowna for about seven years.

Mr. Fortney came to the Okanagan from Shaunavon, Sask., in 1945 and both his wife, Jean and son, Gary are associated with him in the business.

The move from the former Bob White's service location to the new site was brought about by the purchase of that property by Dion's IGA for expansion purposes. The Fortney residence was also included in the purchase.

Mr. Fortney now lives further west on Black Mountain Road in a location known as Green Acres.

Earl is an active community man. He is a member of the Rutland Lions club, the Chamber of Commerce, Knights of Columbus, and is on the executive of the Rovers softball club. He is an active bowler and sponsors the Imperials bowling team. He also belongs to the Yacht club.

Employees of the service station besides members of the family are Ray Stearns, Jack Ueda, Ron Saucier and several part time employees.

Adult Education On Campus Urged By UBC's New Chief

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Every campus should have at least one college devoted to adult education to "break down the idea that university education ends with graduation," Dr. Frederick Kenneth Hare said here.

The president-elect of the University of British Columbia told the opening session of the 202nd convocation of the University of Western Ontario that graduates should not go away, but "come back when you feel the urge and bang on doors until you are admitted." He received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

Dr. Hare said the future rule of universities is to make adult leisure more enjoyable, to provide the higher training necessary for employment, and "to make sure the jobs make some sense to humanity."

"Technology is bringing us to the certainty of increasing adult leisure and the need to constantly re-equip ourselves for the jobs we do as they get more technically difficult."

PROVIDES SCOPE The universities have to tackle both jobs, he said, "to make adult leisure a rich experience, by giving scope for intellectual adventure, and to be always on hand for those re-training jobs that you are going to demand."

Housing Bill Passed In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Tuesday passed a $5,000,000,000 housing bill containing a major new program to help poor families buy homes or rent apartments.

By a vote of 87 to 7, the Senate sent the bill to the House of Representatives where a banking subcommittee already has approved legislation of similar scope.

The bill's key feature authorizes broad new federal subsidies to help low-income families buy or rent homes. Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, leader of the Poor People's Campaign here, said the measure would go a long way toward meeting his group's housing goals.

The administration figures the new subsidies should make possible $5,000 starts on new and rehabilitated units available for purchase by low-income families in the next year—along with 90,000 rental units for the poor.

Under the plan, the government would subsidize the monthly mortgage payments by paying all of the interest charges above one per cent in the case of those with the lowest incomes.

Many home buyers now must pay 6 1/2 per cent or more to get mortgages. Wrapped into the measure are far-reaching new provisions that would:

—Set up a government insurance corporation to help make policies available to homeowners and businessmen in riot-vulnerable areas.

—Establish a national flood insurance program.

COP CARPETED CROYDON, England (CP) — Police Constable Alan Johnson was happy with his old number, P.C. 300, but he was made P.C. 1001—the brand name of a carpet shampoo—when his Surrey force was amalgamated with another. He was afraid people would make fun of his number when he was out on patrol duty, so a desk buddy swapped numbers with him.

Deaf-Mute Boy Lost In Bush

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — More than 150 searchers, directed by RCMP in a helicopter, found nothing Wednesday in the search for a five-year-old deaf-mute boy lost in bush country since Tuesday afternoon.

Duke Wilson, of nearby Port Edward, was last seen with his dog near his home. The dog came out of the dense bush Wednesday morning but there was no sign of the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Casey Wilson.

Searchers said the area, near the Columbia Cellulose plant, is muskeg. Said one: "One false step and you are up to your waist in muck."

Britain's Censor Votes Himself Out

LONDON (AP) — Britain's theatre censor helped vote himself out of a job when the House of Lords approved in principle Tuesday a bill abolishing stage censorship. The censor, Lord Cobbold, in the post of lord chamberlain, was one of the early advocates of the bill. The measure, already approved in the Commons, appears to face no difficulty in final committee and other stages in Lords since Tuesday's vote was unanimous.

Royals, Carls Win Games In Senior Softball Action

Don Schmidt and Roy Hawkins combined to lead Kelowna Carlings to a 4-2 win over Willow Inn Willows Wednesday in Senior B Softball action at Kings Stadium.

Schmidt gave up just five hits and struck out seven to put the brakes on a four-game winning streak by the Willows. He went the distance on the mound for his third win of the year. He has lost one.

Hawkins gave Schmidt all the support he needed with a three-run homer in the third inning.

After Schmidt popped up, John Ross and Boris Kabatoff stepped out two consecutive singles. Hawkins then stepped up and drifted a towering shot over the fence in centre field.

The Carls added another run in the sixth inning when Jack Leier tripled down the left-field line. He scored on a bouncing single by Ted Swardy. The Willows mounted their most serious threat in the sixth inning. Gene Knorr walked and Wally Sehn singled to centre field. Both advanced on a deep fly. Dale Armeau drove in both runners with a double down the left-field line.

Schmidt escaped the inning by getting Ron Pyle to fly out and then striking out Don Angus.

Larry Yeast was the losing pitcher, giving up all four runs. He yielded seven hits and struck out eight.

In Vernon Wednesday, Royal Anne Royals moved back into sole possession of first place by drubbing Vernon 9-0. Gib Loseth turned in his most impressive pitching performance of the year in blanking Vernon.

He gave up just two hits and struck out 11. In no inning did he ever face more than four men and in the fifth inning, he whiffed the side.

The Royals got two hits apiece from Norbert Korthals, Joe Fisher, Gib Loseth and Ed Sehn. They scored runs in the first, third, fourth and fifth innings.

The win moved the Royals one-half a game in front of the idle Rutland Rovers and snapped a two-game losing streak.

Giants Defeat Cards Again With Mays, Marichal Stars

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays and Juan Marichal combined talents again Wednesday night to lead San Francisco Giants to a 2-1 victory over the reeling St. Louis Cardinals.

The triumph gave the first-place Giants a 1 1/2-game lead over Atlanta Braves whose National League game against Houston Astros was rained out in the third inning.

The world champion Cardinals, now in fourth place, lost for the 11th time in their last 13 games and fell to within a half-game of the second division.

Elsewhere in the NL, Chicago and Philadelphia split a two-night doubleheader, the Cubs taking the opener 9-2 and the Phillies winning the nightcap 6-3, and Cincinnati Reds spotted Los Angeles a five-run lead, then rallied to edge the Dodgers 6-5. New York Mets and Pittsburgh Pirates were not scheduled.

Marichal stopped the Cards on six hits to become the NL's first eight-game winner. Mays gave him all the runs he needed when he cracked his ninth homer of the season in the third inning after Ron Hunt singled.

The blast, 53rd of Mays' career, tied him for the league lead with team-mate Willie McCovey and Jim Ray Hart and Hank Aaron, Atlanta. It was the only slip by loser Nelson Briles.

OVERCOMES TROUBLES Chicago's Ken Holtzman had troubles for exactly one inning Wednesday night.

He surrendered two hits and two runs in the first inning of the Cubs-Phillies opener, then hurled hitless ball the rest of the way, retiring the last 17 batters in succession.

Five Philadelphia errors helped the Cubs to five unearned runs and made a losing pitcher out of Chris Short.

In the nightcap, John Callison belted a tie-breaking two-run pinch hit homer with two out in the eighth inning to trigger the

WILLIE MAYS ... nine homers

Phil's victory. The blast, Callison's fourth, came off reliever Phil Regan, who replaced starter Rich Nye after Gary Sutherland's leadoff single.

Regan retired Don Lock and Bill White before Callison unloaded over the right field wall. The Phils added three more runs on singles by Tony Gonzalez and Clay Dalrymple, a double by pitcher Rick Wise and Don Kessinger's throwing error.

An error by Dodger shortstop Zoilo Versalles with two out in the last of the ninth allowed Alex Johnson to race home from second with Cincinnati's winning run. Johnson also scored the tying run in the seventh when he singled, stole second and came home on Johnny Bench's double.

Len Gabrielson capped a five-run Dodger third with a three-run homer. But the Reds battled back with a run in the fifth and three more in the sixth.

Houston led Atlanta 4-2 in the last of the third when the rains came for the second time. The umpires waited 45 minutes before calling things off. The game was interrupted for 68 minutes in the top of the third.

Two Streaks Come To End With Victory By White Sox

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago's Joe Horlen and Tom McCraw are keeping in step after a few false starts while Detroit's Denny McLain is stepping out on his own.

Horlen fired a five-hitter and McCraw tripled two runs home Wednesday night as the White Sox beat Baltimore 3-1, ending a six-game losing string as well as the Orioles' six-game victory skid.

The victory was Horlen's fourth in a row after five straight losses. McCraw, who contributed to one of the Horlen's setbacks by committing three errors in one inning, has driven in winning runs in three of the right-hander's victories.

McLain became the American League's first eight-game winning pitcher, stopping California on four hits and striking out 13 in the Tigers' 3-0 triumph over the Angels.

The Detroit ace, beaten only once in 11 starts, went the distance for the eighth time and kept pace with San Francisco's Juan Marichal, who won his eighth National League game Wednesday night.

DRIVER IN WINNER Elsewhere in the AL, Dave Boswell pitched a three-hitter and drove in the winning run with a foul pop-up in Minnesota. Twins 1-0 nod over Cleveland Indians and Danny Cater's four RBI led Oakland Athletics past Boston Red Sox 7-4. Washington and New York were not scheduled.

Horlen, who ran his scoreless innings streak to 37 before yielding a sixth inning run, needed only 100 pitches to subdue the Orioles and halt Chicago's tailspin.

McCraw tripled down the first base line for the first of Chicago's three hits in the game, giving the Sox a 2-0 first inning lead against Dave McNally.

They added a run in the fourth when Buddy Bradford singled, stole second and tallied on a single by Ken Berry.

Paul Blair doubled in the Orioles' sixth and scored the first run off Horlen in five games on a single by Curt Blefary.

Dick McAuliffe's run-scoring single off Jim McGlothlin in the sixth gave McLain the only help he needed, but Willie Horton provided insurance with a two-run seventh inning homer. It was Horton's 13th homer and his fifth in six games against the Angels.

BEATS THE RELAY Cesar Tovar singled in the fifth inning at Minnesota, stole second and took third on Jackie Hernandez's single before Boswell popped to Cleveland first baseman Tony Horton about 50 feet beyond the bag. Tovar broke for home after the catch and beat the hurried relay from Houston to pitcher Steve Hargan to the plate.

Hockey A Business To Scotty Munro

By STERLING TAYLOR CP Staff Writer

"There is a great deal of good in every boy, and I've never met one I couldn't understand or make understand himself."

That bit of psychology is not the type you expect from a hard-bitten owner of the second-best junior hockey club in Canada, but it's one of the reasons Roderick Neil (Scotty) Munro is considered the dean of hockey men in Western Canada.

Munro, 50, is general manager of Estevan Bruins of the Western Canada Junior Hockey League. The club has won five league championships during its 11 years under Munro and this year reached the finals of the Memorial Cup for the junior hockey championship of Canada.

The Bruins lost the best-of-seven series to Niagara Falls Flyers in five games, but their spirit and determination put the Saskatchewan town of less than 8,000 on the map.

Munro makes no bones about junior hockey being anything but a professional business. "In effect, a boy actually turns professional in a sense when he is 12 years old," Munro says.

WEED OUT LATER He contends that every boy should have a chance to play hockey. "There should be no weeding of the best players until the boy has turned 13. Then you have to look around and decide whether he has the stuff to go on. The ones who have it must be taken into better competition and taught the finer points. The boys who do not have the stuff to make the big time can be given a chance to play with lesser teams, but they must not be allowed to hold back the superior players."

Munro played junior hockey in Edmonton before his career was ended by a construction accident. He began coaching juvenile teams when he was 20 and has managed his own club since he was 21.

He took over as an executive with Lethbridge in 1948 and has been building National Hockey League material ever since. The first thing Munro looks for in a boy is "desire." "He needs the desire to get to the top—not for the money but for the self-satisfaction of accomplishment. You have to teach him that no one is more important to a team than another, everyone needs someone in this life."

"We're not like a flock of crows that will converge on a dead mate and eat it. And we must never allow ourselves to become contented. A man who does that is dead. That's why I believe socialism will never work."

BOYS DRESS WELL Munro says he makes sure his boys are not given "too much." "A man enjoys something he earns himself."

He also believes in the policy of working directly with the boys: "I never had a player that I wasn't close to."

Munro's boys range from 15 to 20 years of age. They dress and conduct themselves with the aplomb of senior executives.

During a pre-game dinner at a hotel before the third game of the Memorial Cup series, a guest asked the team physician if the boys were a group of college students.

"I never imagined a hockey team conducted itself in such gentlemanly manner," said the astonished guest.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Blues will be in great shape if they move up in the Western Division of the National Hockey League as fast as Scotty Bowman is moving up in the club's organization.

Sidney Salomon Jr., chairman of the board and president of the hockey club, announced at a news conference Wednesday that Bowman is assuming the general manager duties in addition to his coaching job.

Lynn Patrick is leaving his job as general manager to become the club's managing director, overseeing the team's entire operation.

In another move, former Montreal Canadiens great Doug Harvey, 43, was added to the Blues as player and assistant coach. Salomon said Harvey would concentrate on working with the Blues' younger players, especially defencemen.

He was a player-coach with Kansas City in the Central Professional Hockey League most of last season.

The appointment of Bowman, 33, to the dual role capped the meteoric rise of hockey's young coach. Bowman took over the Blues after 16 games of the 1967-68 season when they were in last place.

The club surged to third place under him and made it into the Stanley Cup finals, where they lost in four games to Montreal.

New Highway A Symbol Of Afghanistan Growth

KABUL (CP) — A new highway just opened linking Afghanistan with Iran is symbolic of the strides Afghanistan is taking to become part of the modern world.

Completion of the new 78-mile road between Herat and Islam Qila on the Iran-Afghanistan border links Afghanistan with Iran, Pakistan and the Soviet Union by 1,240 miles of good asphalt and concrete roads. Once again it is a crossroads in Asia.

Gone are the bad old days when travellers used to bump along on the country's potholed roads, rightly regarded as among the worst in the world.

The highway system represents a remarkable transformation. Barely 12 years ago Afghanistan had exactly one mile of asphalt road, in front of the royal palace in Kabul.

Now the country seems to be catching up with the world at breakneck speed, as though trying to make up for 20 or 30 centuries of neglect in 20 or 30 years.

Afghanistan awoke from its slumber about 1956, the year its first five-year plan was launched. There were then no roads worth the name, few schools, a handful of hospitals, no power stations, no concrete buildings, no airways.

ON THE PRAIRIES
Cooler Days
Slow Fires

PRINCE ALBERT (CP) — Cool weather this week slowed forest fires in Saskatchewan as more than 700 men and 50 bulldozers and waterbombers continued to fight 41 blazes. Two large fires, 150 miles and 120 miles northwest of here, were burning out of control.

OIL WELL CLOSED
TURNER VALLEY, Alta. (CP) — The oil well which gave birth to Alberta's petroleum industry is being closed down because oil seepage from the well is contaminating the nearby Sheep River. A service rig crew is working this week on the site, 20 miles southwest of Calgary, pulling out the production casing and plugging the well with cement. It was originally drilled in 1913 and produced oil for 38 years.

DAMAGES AWARDED
EDMONTON (CP) — A city resident injured in a car crash in March, 1966 was awarded $67,000 in damages in Alberta Supreme Court Wednesday. Damage of $100,000 were assessed to William Johnson, 23, but the judge said Mr. Johnson was careless of his own safety at the time of the accident and must assume one-third responsibility.

MANY SNIFF GLUE
CALGARY (CP) — Glue-sniffing among Calgary students is quite widespread, a police spokesman said Wednesday following the death Tuesday of a 14-year-old boy who had sniffed glue before he died. Ray Ballard, incumbent MP for Calgary South, called for federal government action to take "these dangerous substances off the market."

Kabul was just an overgrown village of huddled adobe huts and some scattered historical monuments. The people, though proud and fierce, were abysmally poor, ignorant and backward.

The country had maintained its independence when one Asian country after another was falling under foreign domination. Perhaps the landlocked terrain prevented both the Russians in the north and the British in the south from making any serious inroads into the country. Afghans put it down to the fighting ability of their people, warriors almost from the cradle.

But as one Afghan admitted, they paid a heavy price for their freedom. While countries under European domination received certain invaluable benefits, such as roads, railways and schools, Afghanistan was "like a man standing naked."

So the Afghans had to start literally from scratch in modernizing the country.

The first and second five-year plans began by laying the foundations for development—roads, dams, powerhouses, lines of communication and schools and colleges.

The third five-year plan, launched in 1967, calls for gradual industrialization.

In addition to the highway system, a number of concrete and earth-filled dams have been built.

SURPLUS OF POWER
The dams not only serve as reservoirs for agriculture, but also provide a substantial portion of Afghanistan's present power capacity of more than 243,000 kilowatt-hours a year. A decade ago people were using oil lamps in Kabul. Now there is a surplus of electric power, waiting for industrialization.

In communications, Afghanistan is being connected by telephone lines from Kabul to Peshawar and from there to Lahore and New Delhi. The Kabul-Kandahar line is connected with Quetta in Pakistan and thence to Karachi, where radio and cable links exist with the rest of the world.

Winning Belmont Stakes Gives Pass Triple Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Ussery is looking for a mare to breed to Dancer's Image, but the most immediate thought on his mind is finding the finish line first aboard Jade Amicol.

Ussery was set to ride Dancer's Image in Saturday's 1½-mile Belmont Stakes, but when owner Peter Fuller retired the hard-luck colt the veteran ockey got the mount on Jade Amicol.

If Ussery wins the Belmont with Jade Amicol, it would be the second of the three Triple Crown races in which he finished first.

However, his Derby victory was wiped out when Dancer's Image was disqualified after a post-race test revealed an illegal medication in his system.

Ussery's search for a broodmare stems from an offer Fuller made Tuesday when he announced Dancer's Image was being retired to stud. The Boston sportsman said that if Ussery has a mare he would get a chance at the services of Dancer's Image.

"Mr. Fuller has been nothing but kind to me," Ussery said Wednesday at Belmont Park, "and I know one thing, Dancer's Image has all it takes to get to be a great stallion. I don't have a mare right now, but I'll be looking for one."

STOP FORWARD PASS?

A victory by Watermill Farm's Jade Amicol, or any one of the other possible starters in the Belmont, would keep Calumet Farm's Forward Pass from becoming the first triple crown winner since Calumet's Citation in 1948.

Forward Pass, who once again will be ridden by Ismael Alenzuela, was placed first in the Derby after Dancer's Image was disqualified and then convincingly won the Preakness.

The son of On-and-On, the early favorite to win the Belmont, breezed five furlongs in 1:01 2/5 Wednesday.

Trainer Max Hirsch sent Mrs. Adele Rand's Call Me Prince six furlongs in 1:20 and out a mile in 1:50. Bill Boland is set to ride the colt, who likely will run as an entry with Draft Card, also trained by Hirsch. John Rotz will ride Draft Card.

Another hopeful to work out was Gustave Ring's Ardoise, who will have Braulio Baeza aboard. Ardoise went a dandy five furlongs in 1:01.

The other four likely starters and their jockeys are Greentree Stable's State Door Johnny, Helidore Gustines; Millard Waldheim's T.V. Commercial, Howard Grant; Gay DuFour's and Joseph Richards' Sir Beau; Chris Rogers; and C. V. Whitney's Champion, Manuel Ycaza.

BASEBALL STARS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching—Denny McLain, Detroit Tigers, scattered four hits and struck out 13 in blanking California Angels 3-0 for his eighth victory—tops in the American League.

Batting—Willie Mays, Giants, smashed his ninth homer to tie for the National League home run lead and power San Francisco to a 2-1 victory over St. Louis Cardinals.

English-owned Remand, the second choice at 4 to 1, was fourth and Society, at 50 to 1, was fifth in the 13-horse field.

Society is owned by Frank McMahon of Vancouver, who watched the race, publisher Max Bell of Calgary and singer Bing Crosby.

The winning purse was worth $58,525 ($152,165) and Guest bet when his colt was a two-year-old that it would win the Derby and got odds of 100 to 1. His bet earned him another $62,000 ($161,200).

Sir Ivor was listed 2-to-5 favorite for the Irish Derby and 4-to-6 for France's Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe in October.

Tulsa Oilers Kill Mounties

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vancouver split a double-header with Tulsa at Tulsa Wednesday night while Hawaii nipped San Diego 5-4 at Honolulu to edge the Mounties out of third place in the Western Division of the Pacific Coast Baseball League.

A powerful 14-hit attack by Tacoma crushed Portland 10-1 at Tacoma, Indianapolis whipped Seattle 6-1 at Seattle and Spokane edged Phoenix 2-1 at Spokane.

In the Eastern Division, Oklahoma City split a twin bill with Denver. The 90'ers beat the Bears 2-1 in the opener but absorbed a 5-3 loss in the nightcap, played at Denver.

Tulsa did likewise against Vancouver with the Oilers winning the first game 2-1 but getting thrashed 7-3 in the second game.

A home run in the ninth inning by Coco Laboy gave Tulsa the opener. Ossie Chavarria joined the Oilers' chance to win the nightcap by pacing Vancouver with two triples and a double that drove in three runs and helped give Mountie hurler George Lauzerique his second victory.

JACK NICKLAUS

Domination Over In Golf

ATLANTA (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, the man they say may become the unparalleled king of golf, claims nobody will dominate the pro tour in the future.

"The days when one man could win eight or 10 tournaments a year are gone," Nicklaus said before today's start of the Atlanta Classic golf tournament. "I don't think anybody will win more than five tournaments a year from now on."

Nicklaus, 28, averaged four victories a year in his first six seasons on the tour, but he still is looking for his first 1968 triumph. He hasn't won since last October.

Nicklaus said one of the reasons the youngsters are faring so well this year is that they no longer are nervous over the money at stake.

STEADY PLAYERS WON

"You have to realize that it used to be that the better players who didn't shake so much always won in the $100,000 tournaments. Arnold Palmer and I won several of them, when there weren't so many."

"But now almost every tournament has a purse of $100,000 or more, and the young players realize those tournaments are the same as all the others, and they're not scared about playing for that big money."

The money means little now to Nicklaus, who has won $750,304 during his pro career in which he, Palmer and Billy Casper have dominated the tour.

Palmer was among the favorites for the Atlanta title, but Casper skipped the $115,000 tournament. Also missing were Julius Boros, Al Geiberger and Argentina's Roberto DeVicenzo.

Large Crowds Turn Out For Indianapolis Classic

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A horde of motor speed fans poured slowly into the waterlogged Indianapolis Motor Speedway today, optimistic that the weather would relent long enough for running of the 52nd 500-mile race.

They were drawn by the showdown between turbine and conventional piston engines.

started but unresolved last year.

Rain which had fallen almost daily during the four-week practice and qualification period had left some of the cars not fully tested.

The limited running time may have added to the hazards of competing at the course where 58 persons have been killed.

Meanwhile, the writers and broadcasters voted Graham Hill of London, 1962 world champion and 1966 Indianapolis winner, a 5-1 favorite to win in his Lotus-Pratt and Whitney turbine.

In fact, they predicted the three Lotus turbines in the line-up would finish 1-2-3. The other two are driven by Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., who won the pole position with a record qualifying speed of 171.559 m.p.m., and Art Pollard, a sophomore at the Speedway from Medford, Ore.

Among the veterans are A. J. Foyt Jr. of Houston, shooting for an unprecedented fourth 500 victory; Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., who has broken the 10-mile qualifying record three times, and chargers like the Unser brothers and international racer Dan Gurney of Santa Ana, Calif.

The hottest 1968 drivers in the field were Hill, fresh from winning the Spanish and Monaco Grand Prix events, and Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., winner of the last three championship events on the U.S. Auto Club circuit.

Burnaby Man Named Coach Of National Alpine Ski Team

TORONTO (CP) — Alan Raine, 27, of Burnaby, B.C., Wednesday was named administrative head coach of Canada's national alpine ski team.

In announcing the appointment, Ed Creed of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association said Raine will be one of four new coaches—some of them likely from Europe—who will operate the team during the 1968-69 season.

Raine, for the past year head coach of the Southern Ontario Ski Zone junior racing program, will take over from John Platt, one of the originators of the C.A.S.A. national team concept, whom Platt returns to private business later this year.

Raine and Platt will go to France and Austria to look for top coaching material.

Verne Anderson of Rossland,

B.C., girls' team coach, retired earlier this year, turning over his job to Gary Battistella, who will remain in the national team coaching program.

"Only Gary and Bob Fugere, coach of Les Espoirs, will remain in the program," Creed said.

"We will be looking for coaches—Canadian and European—for the men's and women's A and B teams."

"One of the jobs Raine will handle will be to train coaches in Canada and get them training the kids," Creed said.

"The whole country will become a farm club for the national team. The racing schedule in Canada will be set up so all competitors will be able to compete in all meets. All competitors in Canada will be rated on a points system."

The object, Creed said, would be to have the best Canadian skiers representing Canada internationally and to provide incentives for young skiers at all stages of development.

Raine raced in British Columbia, the United States and Europe and became coach of the Royal Air Force ski team in Switzerland in 1964. He coached the Ski Hawk club in the Laurentians in 1965 before taking over the Ontario post.

Jake Gaudaur said in an interview that such a stadium could encourage the American or National Football League to put a franchise in Montreal.

"If Montreal gets a roofed park with those reported 55,000 seats, it would be natural to presume it might be a site for any NFL or AFL expansion," he said. "If that happened, we could be hurt."

Bookies Take A Beating As Sir Ivor Wins Derby

EPSOM, England (CP) — Sir Ivor was the toast of racegoers, the bane of bookies and the pride of American owner Raymond Guest today after winning the Derby Wednesday in a thrilling burst of speed over the last furlong of the 1½-mile classic.

The American-bred colt under jockey Lester Pigott was installed as the odds-on favorite for the Irish Derby June 29.

Sir Ivor's win at Epsom massacred the bookies. Bettors won nearly £3,000,000 ($7,800,000) backing the colt that went off a 4-to-5 favorite.

London's biggest bookie, William Hill, called it "the worst day of racing we've ever had" and estimated the firm's loss at $500,000 ($1,300,000).

Guest himself won more than 300,000 in prize money and bets when Sir Ivor pounded past the most 1½ lengths ahead of English-owned Connaught, a 100-to-9 shot. A 45-to-1 outsider, Mount Athos, was third another 2½ lengths back.

Sir Ivor's winning time was two minutes, 36.7 seconds, well off the Derby record.

Judge Seen as Key For Any Settlement In Posties Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — The new national president of the 14,000-member Canadian Union of Postal Workers said Wednesday Judge Rene Lippe is the key to a possible settlement of the present government-union deadlock.

William Houle, 50, elected to his $13,000-a-year post at the third and last day of the 10th triennial convention of the union, said in an interview: "I have few hopes for success in conciliation. The only one who could speed up talks and possibly get a settlement is Judge Lippe. He's a very fast man with a decision and he could avert a strike by forcing the employer to accept some of our terms."

"He can help a lot because he's not tied down by any legislation or set procedures."

The convention previously voted in favor of a legal strike if present conciliation procedures are exhausted with no agreement reached. Strike ballots went out Wednesday to the 10,000 members of the Letter Carriers Union of Canada, with which the CUPW is negotiating jointly.

Referring to controversy over the earliest legal time for a strike, Mr. Houle said: "The exact date is immaterial. What does matter is that we will be going out unless something happens in the way of an agreement."

Talks between the joint union council and the government broke down April 25. The union asked for a conciliation board the next day.

The CUPW quickly named its representative to the three-man conciliation board—Ben Coffey of the Civil Service Association of Ontario.

Wednesday, the treasury board said a CPP vice-president, Keith Campbell of Winnipeg, is the government nominee.

Both sides now must choose a neutral chairman.

The government informed the joint council last Friday that Judge Lippe had been named as mediator in an additional try to get the two parties together.

Outgoing CUPW president William Kay said the talks broke down because the treasury board insisted that the employer had the sole right to reclassify workers, a right the union wants. Discussions did not get to wages because of the board's attitude, he said.

MOLD, Wales (AP) — A heavy police guard protected Princess Margaret when she visited Wales Wednesday. Also announced was the appointment of Jack Gary Stabback, 47, chief engineer of the board since 1964, as a board member. Both appointments are effective July 1.

PAY BOOST FOR 1,500

OTTAWA (CP) — About 1,500 employees in administrative, administrative support and foreign service positions will receive a lump-sum pay supplement, the treasury board announced Wednesday. The payments will be two per cent of the rates of pay in effect on Sept. 30, 1968.

BUSES ARE BURNED

LIMERICK, Ireland (AP) — Two carloads of men burned out six buses owned by General Electric's E. I.
